The Recently Accepted Cruiser New York Needs Repairs.

Useless Apparatus Passed by the Government Examiners.

The new United States cruiser New Terk, which has been lying at Norfolk, Va., for some time, has been ordered by Herbert to proceed to Brooklyn Navy Yard, where she will be laid up for the repairs and changes which are necessary before she can go

The reason given for this change is that the deep draught of the cruiser makes it risky for her to steam to the Norfolk Navy-Yard. The material with which the vessel is to be fitted up is already at the latter place, and will have to be transferred to Brooklyn. is making preparations to bring the warship up to this city, and she will probably get under way during the coming week.

Great surprise has been expressed in official and other quarters that the new cruiser should show so many defects of construction, after she had been accepted by the Government and put into commission.

cepted by the Government and put into commission.

It is said that these defects are not due to the builders, the Messrs. Cramp, of Philadelphia, but to the faulty designs and plans approved by the Bureau of Naval Construction at Washington, which is supposed to be supervised by the best experts in that line that can be obtained in the country.

Sems. important information bearing upon the cause of these defects has just been obtained by "The Evening World," which points to a state of affairs in consider of the country of the cause of these defects has just been obtained by "The Evening World," which points to a state of affairs in consider of the country of many things that have hitherto remained a mystery.

The Evening World's' informant is familiar with the minor workings of this system, both at the Cramps' shipyards and at Washington, and the importance of his statements can be readily understood, when it is remembered that several other new cruisers are now in the process of completion at these same Philadelphia shipyards.

According to this authority the present head of the designing department of Cramp's was formerly, for many years, a prominent expert in the Bureau of Naval Construction at Washington.

Just at the close of the Harrison Administration, it is said, he procured a results.

The everlasting tinkering which every new vessel turned out has to submit to is making the Navy Department a vast amount of trouble, and it is said that Secretary Herbert himself has frequently expressed his annoyance at the delay which has attended the preparations of the New York for active service. She ought to have been at sea months ago, and no one knows yet to what extent serious defects have developed in her examination at the Norfolk Navy-Yard.
